WebTADS to unveil new features July 27

The WebTADS system will launch a new overtime request and leave planning features July 27. The overtime request and approval feature is mandatory if an employee is planning to work overtime or comp-time. Employees will see a "critical error" message if they input overtime or comp-time without a request. The leave planning feature is not mandatory, but will be available for use by organizations. Classes explaining the new features will be held in August. For a class schedule, see "Inside Marshall."
